Career in Good Governance and Political Leadership
Sri Krishna is telling Arjuna that just as the unwise act with attachment to their actions, the vidvaans or the wise ones act unattached to their activities with an intention to maintain loka-sangrah i.e. the world order – 3.25 Bhagwat Gita
How are our leaders today?

• In our times we have entrusted this responsibility the most to the leaders who represent us, i.e. to act for maintaining the world order, social harmony and peaceful progress. But what do we see generally happening?

• We see leaders in different fields, be it in Politics, Business or Administration, acting out of vested interests and letting greed, anger and lust drive their decisions. This has made a mockery out of the positions they are holding whereas they should be setting examples for others to follow.
It is time to spiritualise politics, secularise religion and socialise business to make this world a better place to live.
Can we raise a voice of righteous leadership?

- Do we feel our representatives are doing the right things?

- There is story which goes like:
  - In a class first benchers become engineers/ Physicians or scientists,
  - Second benchers become Business Leaders/ Managers
  - Third benchers become Lawyers/ Journalists
  - Fourth benchers become Politicians
Time for Change

• we see many educated people enter the field of politics and do well. Defense Minister Manohar Parrikar is an IITian and has been regarded as one of the best in his job.
• Arvind Kejriwal, another IITian, IRS who is credited with shaping India Against Corruption movement into a successful political party.
• We see many people taking interest in affairs of the country and especially the youth. Last year in general election 2014, 12 Crore voters were the first timers. This goes on to show that leaders of tomorrow have to be an informed and trained lot!
Good Governance vs Bad Governance

- Recently the terms "governance" and "good governance" are being increasingly used in development literature. Bad governance is being increasingly regarded as one of the root causes of all evil within our societies. Major donors and international financial institutions are increasingly basing their aid and loans on the condition that reforms that ensure "good governance" are undertaken.
Government versus Governance

• Government refers to actions carried out within a formal legal setting.
• Governance involves all activities of government along with informal activities even outside a formal governmental setting that are meant to achieve common goals.
