SRI SRI UNIVERSITY

From the Editor's Desk

Dear Readers

To exist is to change,
To change is to mature,
To mature is to go on creating oneself endlessly
- Henri Louis Bergson

There are occasions that tempt us into thinking Why time is other than time was ... (We're Late - W. H. Auden). For the last seven months or so, the COVID-19 crisis has been on the rise, turning the world upside down. Yet, true to Darwinian theory, both humans and organisations have responded to the challenges COVID-19 has posed. SSU Online is once again abuzz with life.

The new academic year just started. Indeed, SSU is one among the few universities in the country which have resumed their academic activities in full swing. Undeterred by the pandemic, the University began its new academic year 2020-21 with the same zeal. Students from different parts of the country joined us for an online Orientation Programme, followed by the Happiness Course, making a truly exhilarating experience for the new members of the SSU family.

In addition to this, of the many firsts the University has to its credit in these testing times, the foremost is the Seventh Convocation of SSU was held virtually. An event marked by innovation with a human touch, the Convocation was an occasion to celebrate. The graduating students of received their degrees personally and shared their joy with all the members of the SSU family in the august presence of Poojya Gurudev Sri Sri Ravishankar Ji. This was no less than a defining moment for us.

Exploring a wider range of topics for capacity building and skill development, the faculty and management development of the University continue with same josh as ever. Reputed scholars from different corners of the world also joined us for a series of webinars on Translation Studies, an emerging field of study.

The challenges have only served to reinforce our belief in the fact that with the passage of time, we have evolved in ways we could have never thought of earlier. No problem seems to difficult. It is rather an opportunity to prove our mettle once again.

Happy Reading!

RESEARCH A CONTINUOUS PROCESS, SAYS AJAY SINGH

PNS ■ DEHRADUN

A week-long workshop on research methodology under the aegis of School of Management (SOM) of Doon University started on Tuesday.

Speaking at the inaugural session of the online workshop, the Vice Chancellor (VC) of the Shri Shri University of Cuttack, Odisha Ajay Singh said that research is a continuous process and we should regularly evaluate our research activity.

He said that the social significance and contribution to the society should be clearly defined. The Consultant at Swami Ram Himalayan University Ashok Saklani said that research has an important place in higher education.

He said that emphasis should be on improving the quality of research and their global acceptance. In his address the former Professor at Delhi School of Economics DPS Verma elaborated on social science and management research techniques.

The Vice Chancellor (VC) of Doon University A K Karnatak said that students should focus on search instead of research and advocated for error free and scientific research methodology. The head of department of Management, H C Purohit and others attended the programme.

CERTIFICATE IN WORKPLACE ERGONOMICS

Offered by
SRI SRI UNIVERSITY

Endorsed by
INDIAN SOCIETY OF ERGONOMICS

Description:
This foundation course provides a basic understanding of the field of ergonomics and how to apply it to assist with injury prevention in the workplace. Work-related musculoskeletal disorders (MSDs) are a general category used to describe a group of peripheral injuries associated with highly repetitive and/or forceful job activities that may also present postural challenges for those who have to perform them. This course will assist participants in recognizing the presence of MSD-related hazards and the importance of monitoring their status. The course will explore the relationship between workplace design and MSDs in addition to learning about specific MSD hazard analysis checklists and tools, their results and implications for workplace design. The course will conclude by examining reliable methods of developing and implementing actions to prevent MSDs from a workplace systems perspective based on a participatory approach.

Course Objectives:

1. Provide you with an in depth look into the field of ergonomics
2. Learn about the factors that can contribute to:
 - Physiology of work
 - Environmental Factor
 - Occupational Diseases
 - Musculoskeletal disorders
 - accidents and injuries
 - psychosocial stress
3. Provide you with knowledge to help you identify basic hazards that can lead to injury in workplaces using several systems for assessing injury risk.
4. Learn about human anthropometry and how this can help with the specifications of tools and equipment to fit employees better to improve safety.
5. Increased productivity, quality, health etc.

Duration of Course: 45 hrs

CERTIFICATE COURSE IN EXERCISE & SPORTS PHYSIOLOGY

Course Approved/Affiliated by:
Sri Sri University, Cuttack, Odisha, India

In Association with:
Physical Education Foundation of India (PEFI),
National Sports Promotion Organization (NSPO),
Recognised by Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports (MYAS), Govt. of India

Description:
Exercise physiology is the study of the body's responses to physical activity. These responses include changes in metabolism and in physiology of different areas of the body like the heart, lungs, and muscles, and structural changes in cells. The word exercise comes from the Latin exercitus, 'to drive forth', while physiology comes from the words physis ('nature') and logia ('study').

This online course is designed to offer competences in a series of physiology notions, but also sports, nutrition and dietary and fitness concepts that can empower students for a wide variety of exercise and sports related careers. It is one of the most versatile courses in the exercise and sports physiology field.

This course does not require any prior experience or qualifications within the exercise physiology field. You can dedicate around 50 hours to this course. To be able to study exercise physiology online all you need is an interest in how the body and mind interact with the mechanisms of exercise.

Who should do this course?
Regardless of your background you can take this course and explore the passion for helping others by analyzing their fitness to make the best recommendations for improving and maintaining their health. You could be a therapist looking for self-development, or a newbie to the field of sports and training, this course suits a range of skills and experience levels.

The exercise physiology course is an excellent basis for any further higher education into the sports and physiology area.

What happens after the course?
At the end of this course you will be able to demonstrate key technical skills and a good knowledge of exercise and sports physiology. You may have a previous qualification in an unrelated field, or perhaps you already have some training in anatomy and physiology for exercise and you would like to develop those skills further.

If you have a specific interest into any of the chapters you study, you could offer your insights to a university, that could benefit from a research program. You may like to apply the knowledge you have with a sports center, or study further and become an academic professional in exercise science. Some of the careers you can choose from:

- Personal fitness trainer
- Rehabilitation therapist
- Sports therapist

Eligibility:
Diploma/Degree qualification (Bio-Science, Medicine, Physiotherapy, Physiology, Nutrition, Sports Science, Yoga, Occupational Therapy, Nursing, and Psychology) from any recognized University.

★ On completion of this course Student will get an Online Printable Certificate.
