SDG2: ZERO HUNGER

Description:

To disseminate information on sustainable agriculture and food production to the local farmers and food producers, Sri Sri University hosts various events.

1. Student participation in community events like Rural Agricultural Work Experience (RAWE) program, KUS (Krushi Unnat Sahjogi), and Experience Learning Programs (ELP).

The student's participation in Experience Learning Programs and the RAWE program are among the crucial activities. Students and staff members actively participate in the visit to the fields of farmers and other stakeholders during this event, identifying issues and offering solutions. Additionally, students work with local agriculture officers from the Odisha state government in KUS (Krushi Unnat Sahjogi) and KVK (Krishi Vigyan Kendra) programs, providing various knowledge sharing sections to stakeholders (Plate 1)

2. Exhibition stalls for farmers and stakeholders:

Additionally, faculty members and students from the agriculture department take part in events hosted by other organizations that focus on various aspects of agriculture. During those events, staff and students participate in activities that disseminate information to stakeholders about developments (Plate 2).

Workshops and Guest lectures:

Sri Sri University hosts various events to disseminate information on sustainable agriculture, food production, and related fields to nearby farmers and food producers. These events, which include training sessions and workshops, are scheduled both offline and online (Plate 3).
